Advices Ogden Youths To Take Advantage of Modern Opportunities

The young men of America were warned by Oscar Kirkham, a member of the general board of the M. I. A. at the tri-state convention yesterday afternoon, that unless they live up to their opportunities they will lose their birthright.

Referring to his recent trip to Europe with the Boy Scouts of America, where he said he had seen the old world reeling in trouble and distress; where there were more women than men working in the fields and where little boys and old men were in the majority, the young men having been killed in the world war, he said:

GIVES WARNING.
"I give you warning. You look out, you young men of America, with all the luxury of the world pouring into your laps, or tomorrow there will arise out of the ashes and struggles of Europe a generation of men that will be the peers of the earth, and you who have been born under the covenant will lose your birthrights and it will be given to another."

The speaker said, in referring to the inspiring addresses delivered during the convention, that most people have formed the habit of hearing good things, bathing in their atmosphere and then going back into the old way of doing things. "What the world needs today is not a generation of preachers, but a generation of doers," he declared.

Nearly one thousand mutual workers from Ogden, North Weber and Weber stakes and other stake officers and ward bishops were in attendance at the convention which was marked by addresses and music. The morning session which was devoted chiefly to department work, where the work for the coming season was outlined, was held in the Weber Normal college and the afternoon session was held in the tabernacle.

MORNING SESSION.
At the morning session Arthur L.
Bessley of the general board delivered a brief address dealing with the subject of marriage. He called attention to the low percentage of members of the mutuals who marry according to the rules of the church, deploring the fact that although the young people are instructed regarding the way in which the Lord had designed that marriage should be performed, they go the ways of the world and are married by civil authorities.

A feature of the afternoon session was the rendition of stake songs by the members of the three stakes. The Weber stake sang "Our Long Yacation Ended," the Ogden stake song, "We Are Workers in the Army," and the North Weber stake rendered
"Who's Going to Join the Ranks?"
Each of the songs referred to the work of the M. I. A.

Under the direction of Prof. Joseph Ballantyne and with Prof. Sam F.
Whitaker at the organ, the tabernacle choir rendered "Breathes the Wave," "Christian," and "When Thou Comest." Soloists in the two anthems were Jed Ballantyne, Walter Stephens and Mrs.
Myrtle B. Higley.

OPPOSED TO TOBACCO.
"We stand for the non-use and the non-sale of tobacco," the new mutual slogan, was the subject of a brief address by Thomas Hull of the general board. He called attention to the alarming increase in the number of boys, men and also women who through alluring advertisements, were using tobacco in various forms. He urged the members of the organization to use their influence in checking the use of the narcotic and also to persuade merchants who are members of the church to refrain from offering the weed for sale. He also suggested that when the new state legislature meets they be flooded with petitions to legislate against the manufacture and sale of tobacco in the state.

"Teacher Training" was the subject of the next address.

He has served continuously in congress for more than ten years.
The senator will arrive in Ogden from California, where he has completed a tour, at 11:45 o'clock. He will publican state chairman and others discussed by Mrs. Mary E. Connelley of the general board who urged all members of the mutuals to take advantage of the class which will be held each week. She argued that it was just as essential for those who teach the gospel to be trained in the art of teaching, as it is for the teachers in the public school to receive such training.

B. S. Hinckley, in discussing the subject "Helping the Young Man to Find Himself," illustrated his subject with a number of stories and said that the institution and men who render the best service to the world are those who can call out the good that slumbers in the heart. He said we can even help the ruffian to find that divine something that is hidden in his heart.

Mrs. Edith Lovejoy advised the girls and young women to follow the example set by Christ if they would find their better selves. Christ's whole life was a beautiful rhythm showing how we can be our better selves if we will exercise faith in God, she said. The speaker said that girls should be taught the correct principles of life and the mysteries of life and encouraged to read good literature.

Parents were advised by Mrs. Ruth Fox to set their daughters a good example in the matter of dress. Girls should dress decently and not in such a manner as to arouse sensual desires, she said, and called attention to the temple garments which provided for the covering of the body.

Following are the stake songs rendered during the afternoon session:

WEBER STAKE M. I. A.
(Tune, "Onward Christian Soldiers.")
Our long vacation's ended, Our duty calls today,
Come from fun and pleasure Back to M. I. A.
Every heart's aflame,
Our movement is our aim, Onward, upward, ever Striving for the same.

CHORUS—
Let our voices raise in anthem
To the noble cause, Workers for improvement M. I. A. for all.

If we work in earnest
God will hear our pleadings, Help to keep us pure; Help us spread the gospel Help us touch the hearts of men And to claim His youth.

NORTH WEBER M. I. A.
(Tune, "Who's On the Lord's Side.")
Who's going to join the ranks?
We're happy, bright and gay,
Who's going to join the ranks?
North Weber M. I. A.
We learn the better way Our talents to improve,
The members all are true,
Of our dear M. I. A. (Our M. I. A.) We love this work the best And we are proud to say We strive to gain the crest
North Weber M. I. A.

OGDEN STAKE M. I. A. SONG.
(Tune, "Waiting for the Reapers.")
Our banner is unfurled,
It waves by night and day,
It shines throughout the world
Our own dear M. I. A.
Improvement is our aim,
There's time for work and play
We're proud of it's great name
Our own dear M. I. A. (Our M. I. A.)
Who's going to join the ranks?
We're happy, bright and gay
Who's going to join the ranks?
North Weber M. I. A.

Our banner is unfurled,
It waves by night and day,
It shines throughout the world
Our own dear M. I. A.
Improvement is our aim,
There's time for work and play
We're proud of it's great name
Our own dear M. I. A. (Our M. I. A.)
Who's going to join the ranks?
We're happy, bright and gay
Who's going to join the ranks?
North Weber M. I. A.

Marching on, we're marching onward
In the ranks of the Reapers, Hallelujah swell the army, For the right we're marching on.
Hark the battle cry is sounding Let us haste, make no delay, For the time is now for us,
And we're ready for the fray.
We are soldiers bold with courage,
For we know our cause is right, We are warriors and are waiting Come and join us in the fight.

Hogge Again Gets Suspended Sentence

Charged with having failed to pay room rent during July, David S. Hogge appeared before Judge D. R. Roberts of the city court this morning.
Some time ago, Hogge was hauled into court on a charge of writing a check without sufficient funds in the bank, say the police. Because of his family, a suspended sentence was given him, with the understanding that a severe sentence would be given him in event he appeared again on a similar charge.
Family difficulties caused Hogge to be brought into court about a week ago and he promised that he would attend to his obligations towards his wife and children by contributing to their support.
This morning he was arrested and taken into court because his former landlady wanted $5 due her for Hogge's room rent.
Following his promise to settle the account, Hogge was given a five days' suspended sentence by Judge D. R.
Roberts.
